

BRIEF RESUME
JOHN E. (JEFF) FOTHERGILL, CPA

Jeff is president of Fothergill Segale & Valley in Montpelier, Vermont, a five-partner CPA firm employing a total of 16. He has practiced public accounting in Vermont since 1982. His professional work is concentrated in corporate and individual income taxation; small business consulting and valuation; and attorney support services on business valuation and a variety of other financial issues, including expert testimony. Jeff has testified as an expert before the U.S. Bankruptcy Court, as well as in various civil matters in Family and Superior courts around the state.

Jeff has done many presentations and seminars on tax and business valuation topics for attorneys, judges, realtors and CPAs, including developing and presenting a full-day course on IRC Section 529 Plans for the Boston Tax Institute, and frequent presentations for the New England Graduate Accounting Study Conference, and the Land Grant University National Income Tax School (conducted locally by the University of Vermont).

Jeff has a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration/Accounting from the University of Vermont. He has served as Governing Council member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, as President and director of the Vermont Society of Certified Public Accountants, and served on the VSCPA's Federal and State Taxation Committee.